A couple of years have passed and now those small jewellery exhibitors have started their own website. Yes, getjewelified.com takes huge pride in being that small company which held the small exhibition in the big corporate. This is what getjewelified.com stands for, personal relationships before anything else and this is what our jewellery as well stands for, means for establishing deep personal relationship. At getjewelified.com no one is our customer, we do not believe in selling goods and making customers, we believe in making relationships, not just based out of simple buying and selling process. At a big corporate, there is this small company which holding an even smaller exhibition of imitation and fashion jewellery. As time passes, people come, shop, interact and go. Then there comes this Gentleman, whose special friend's birthday was round the corner. He starts interacting and then finally decides to buy a piece of elegant jewellery from this small exhibition. That Gentleman realises that he had forgotten any money(cash) to carry along. He goes to his friends, and manages to arrange the cash and buy the beautifully designed jewellery item for his special friend. Seeing this the exhibition holders give him a huge discount, touched by what magic their jewellery had done on the Gentleman.
